

AUDITING

All students, degree seeking or non-degree seeking, are expected to elect courses for credit. The student's academic adviser, however, with the concurrence of the instructor involved, may grant official auditing privileges when they are warranted for educational reasons. A student auditing a course is charged the usual fee for that course. Any specific conditions must be enunciated by the instructor at the time permission is granted for the audit. Please consult your college's advising office for additional guidance. Non-degree seeking students should consult the advising office associated with the college offering the course. Students admitted to a program that requires auditing are exempt from this policy; however, the instructor may still place conditions on the audit through the end of the add/drop period for the semester.
