

SECOND MASTER'S DEGREE

Admission to a master's degree program in the same field of specialization and at the same level as one previously completed is possible only if the previous degree program was of substantially different character or was not accredited.